Testimonial reference for Mr Ian West

In my association with Ian dating back over 25 years , I can honestly say that I have never come across a more focused professional and highly talented person.

Ian set up his drum school and as soon as I became aware of his teaching practise I wanted to be associated with him and so persuaded him to re house his teaching practise within studios in a music shop I worked in at the time.

We have since moved to our current location within Electro Music where Ian has established Ian West School Of Drums as one of the countries leading drum tuition practises.

Ian has taught countless people over the years of all ages and calibres and has taught pupils to a very high professional level , so much so that there are at least 6 teaching practises set up within the north of England where the tutors have been and still come in certain cases for lessons from Ian.

What amazes me and is such an inspiration is how Ian strives to improve as a musician and a teacher always interested in new techniques and hungry to pass on new ideas.

I really could not recommend anyone above Ian as a drummer or as a drum tutor and feel truly honoured to have worked and be associated with him for the past 25 years and long may it last!
